Crook Working in Perfect Accord With Mexican Troops.

An Important Agreement Made by Western Railroads.

The Wife of Senator Fair Applies for Divorce.

Denver Dots.

DENVER, May 7.—The Santa Fe this morning filed its answer to interrogatories of the D. & N. O. to show why it should not be fined for contempt of court. The papers were immediately taken possession of by Messrs. Wells, Smith & Macon, attorneys for the D. & N. O., and a hearing was set by Judge Hallett for to-morrow.

Among the papers filed with the secretary of state to-day was the certificate of incorporation of the Red Mountain Sampling and Concentration company. The company has a capital stock of fifty thousand dollars and its directors for the first year are Geo. W. Breen, W. J. McClosky, James E. Doyner, and H. B. Adsit. The operations of the company will be carried on in Ouray and San Juan counties.

N. H. Meldrum, the new surveyor-general, will assume his office to-morrow.

Crook's Campaign.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7. A special from El Paso, Texas, says: General Furno, commanding northern Mexico, will, in two days, arrive at El Paso Del Norte and cross the Rio Grande to take command of all forces in Chihuahua, in conjunction with General Crook, now in Mexico. Col. Unda, chief of staff, is with the troops, and has headquarters already at El Paso Del Norte. Unda is amused at the idea of any difference between the two countries on account of Crook's operations. General Furno comes direct from the City of Mexico. There is perfect accord. When Crook reaches a certain point, now a military fort, the Mexican forces will move forward. There seems little doubt but that final end will be made of hostile renegade Apaches.

Railroad Agreement.

CHICAGO, May 7.—The Times will say: "A tri-partite agreement has been consummated, the parties to which are the A., T. & S. F., St. Louis & San Francisco, and Atlantic & Pacific railways, under which agreement a controlling interest in the St. Louis & San Francisco road is secured to the Atlantic & Pacific, the latter agreeing to stop construction of its line west of Colorado river for the present, but to be permitted to proceed to the completion of the work eventually to the Pacific coast, making San Francisco the western terminus, as originally contemplated. Should the agreement be kept by the other parties the Atlantic & Pacific will not be permitted to reach San Francisco for the term of the contract, which is 20 years.

The Fair Scandal.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Complaint was filed in the first judicial district of Nevada last Wednesday by Theresa Fair, against James G. Fair, accusing adultery on the part of defendant. The plaintiff states that she was married to defendant in Calaveras county, Cal., December 18, 1862; came to Nevada with him in 1866; has lived with him until a few months, when she became cognizant of certain acts of infidelity on the part of defendant, since which time she has not lived with him. The complaint says defendant committed adultery with one Fannie Smith, at the house of Jessie Street, in San Francisco, some time in November, 1881. The senator is also charged with committing the same crime with Inez Leinand at a house on the northwest corner of Dupont and Post streets, San Francisco, on the 27th of April, 1883. Plaintiff states that the result of the marriage between plaintiff, and defendant is four children, James G., jr., aged 20; Charles Lewis, aged 16; Theresa Alice, aged 13, and Virginia, aged 8.

The prevailing opinion on the Comstock is that the Nevada statesman will not make defense in the suit, but allow it to go by in default and agree to such settlement of property as may determined on by the other party. Gossip says the amount has been agreed on as follows: Three million cash; $1,500,000 and real estate, at all events, in case of a divorce being granted. But this is merely rumor. The case will come before Judge Rising, and is looked forward to with considerable curiosity by nearly every one on the coast.

Strikes.

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—Striking coal miners near Collinsville, Ill., have become so demonstrative towards men working in the Abbey mine because the latter will not join them in their strike, that Governor Hamilton has been obliged to instruct authorities to take prompt measures to preserve the peace and see that property of the company is not harmed or interfered with. The strikers committed no overt act yet, but their conduct has excited so much alarm on the part of the coal company that its president called on the governor for protection.

CHICAGO, May 7.—About one-third of the cigar manufacturers of this city having refused to pay the advance demanded, union men quitted the shops this morning. Other shops have conceded the advance.

Asiatic Hordes.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Honolulu advices state that the large Chinese immigration is the absorbing question. At the rate the Chinese are now arriving they will soon outnumber the natives. Meetings for protesting are continually held.

Star Route Trial.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Bliss continued his argument in the star route trial this morning. He declared that the official records showed that within three months after the date upon which S. W. Dorsey came into possession of his twelve routes, ten of them had been increased or expedited, and most of the orders had been made while Dorsey was in this city, and no one knew how far the thing would have gone if a new administration had not come in and the two honest men, MacVeagh and James, stepped to the front. With incomparable impudence, Dorsey had patched up Rerdell's affidavit addressed to the president, and had attempted to defame the memory of Garfield by asserting that upon that affidavit Garfield would have removed two of his cabinet.

Fighting Monopoly.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—The civil district court to-day issued an injunction on application of Wm. Pagan, general agent of the Continental Meat company of Victoria, Texas, restraining the Crescent City Slaughter House company from interfering with them in the sale of dressed beef, killed at Victoria, shipped in refrigerator cars and sold from refrigerators erected by authority of the city council in the markets of the city. The Slaughter House company has heretofore enjoyed a monopoly in the matter of slaughtering meat for sale in this market.

Western Woolen Factories

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7. A letter to the Examiner advises the construction of woolen mills to prevent the determination of eastern wool buyers not to buy California wool, hoping thereby to slaughter prices in this market. The letter also points out that the completion of the Northern Pacific in Oregon and Washington territories will hurt this market, unless factories are built here.

SUDDEN DEATH.

The Night Watchman Found Dead in the Manitou House Reading Room.

On Sunday morning one of the early risers at the Manitou house, who had occasion to enter the reading room, found lying face downward upon the floor the apparently lifeless body of a man. Upon further investigation the body proved to be that of Louis Jellinek, the night watchman of the house. There were no indications of violence upon his person—and it seemed to be the general conclusion that death had come from natural causes. It is presumed that feeling unwell during the night he lay down upon the lounge, afterward falling to the floor. He was last seen alive at midnight on Saturday, and was then in comparatively good health.

Although there were no suspicious circumstances surrounding the man's death, Mr. Bailey thought it advisable to notify the coroner. The remains were removed from the building, and Coroner Perkins telephoned for. Upon his arrival a post mortem examination was held by Drs. Kimball and Fuller; they, without much hesitation, giving as their verdict that death had been caused by pulmonary apoplexy. An investigation of the effects of the deceased revealed the fact that he had a brother named Matthew Jellinek residing at Watertown, Wisconsin, and an uncle named Joseph Hecksich, a resident of Denver. They were both telegraphed to in regard to the sudden death.

Louis Jellinek was only about 20 years of age, and had been employed in various capacities about the Manitou hotels for the past two years. Last year he was at the Beebee house and when the Manitou house opened, early in April, he was given a position by Mr. Bailey. He was a sober, industrious young man, respected by all who knew him and enjoyed the esteem and confidence of Mr. Bailey, his employer. No money was found with which to defray the expenses of the burial, but Mr. Bailey said that he would see that he was decently interred. This was not necessary as the relatives of the young man yesterday had his remains sent to Denver for interment.

CITY AFFAIRS.

May Meeting of the City Fathers Last Night.

Ordinance Adopted on Boxing Irrigation Ditches.

No Action Taken on the Sprinkling of Streets.

The regular May meeting of the city council was held last night with Mayor Humphrey in the chair and Aldermen Bent, Roby, Parrish, Brown, Anderson, Ralstin, Jones and Hemenway present.

The minutes of the last regular meeting, also of the special meeting, were read. Alderman Brown objected to any record being made of the minutes of the proceedings during the executive session at the last regular meeting, and on his motion they were stricken out. Otherwise the minutes stood approved.

A petition from the Colorado Springs Investment and Improvement company was read, asking that the water pipes be extended to the D. Russ Wood addition to the city of Colorado Springs, connection to be made with the main running through the alley between Cascade avenue and Tejon street, and extending north of Columbia street, the proposed extension not to exceed 1,200 feet of 3-inch pipe. The company offered to pay the expense of laying the pipe, the same to be laid under the supervision of the city. It was asked by the petitioner that the frontage tax and rents acquired from such extension be paid over to the Improvement company until the money expended by them be refunded. Judge Severy explained the objects to be attained by the extension, and said that a similar petition had been presented to the council before.

On motion the petition was referred to the committee on water works, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

A petition from A. Sagendorf, F. E. Dow, Oscar Hafner, and sixty-three others, asking that the council provide, by ordinance, for the sprinkling of that portion of the streets of Colorado Springs that have heretofore been sprinkled, one-half the cost to be paid for by a special tax upon the property fronting upon the streets so sprinkled. In event of the council making such provision the petitioners bound themselves to pay in addition to their proportion of special tax, the other one-half of the expense of sprinkling.

Mr. Roby moved that the petition be placed on the table, which motion received no second.

Alderman Brown said that the matter was of considerable importance, and ought to have immediate attention.

Alderman Roby said that he had looked in the matter a little and did not think that, legally, any proposition could be entertained of taxing a certain portion of the city property for the benefit of another portion.

Alderman Parrish said that the question was purely a legal one, and moved that the petition be referred to the committee on streets and ditches.

Alderman Brown offered an amendment that the committee have power to act, but the amendment was not seconded, and the original motion prevailed.

The clerk read a communication from the Colorado Springs Ministerial association, requesting that the council take some steps toward enforcing the ordinance relative to the sale of intoxicating and malt liquors; claiming that it would be for the peace, order, happiness and prosperity of our city. On motion the communication was referred to the police committee.

A communication was read from A. G. Holland, foreman of the Denver & Rio Grande water service, to Mr. Carithers, superintendent of water works, requesting that the road be privileged to use a water column instead of the tank now in use, and that the column be placed between the two tracks west of the passenger depot. The communication was referred to the committee on water works.

A communication was read from Chief Engineer Pixley recommending:

First That the four-inch main between Cascade avenue and Tejon street be replaced by a six-inch main as far south as Cucharas street.

Second—That as soon as practicable the council either build or rent a suitable building near the corner of Nevada avenue and Boulder street, so that one of the hose companies could be located in that portion of the city.

Third—That the council purchase at least ten more hydrants, and valves for the same.

Fourth—That each of the fire companies be given $50 from the fire department fund for the purpose of purchasing furniture for their rooms in the city hall.

The communication was referred to the committee on fire department.

The Colorado Springs company filed a plat of addition No. 5 to the city of Colorado Springs, which was referred to the committee on streets and ditches.

Police Magistrate Pixley's report for the month of April was read, received and placed on file.

City Treasurer Hooker presented his report—from the first of April to the time that he was succeeded by Mr. Martin. City Clerk McCreery stated that he had checked the report with his books and found it correct with the exception of an error of $178 in one of the accounts, which he thought could be rectified. On motion the report was referred to the finance committee.

Treasurer Martin's report up to May 1 was submitted, received and placed on file.

The official bond of City Marshal Buell, of $1,000, with J. C. Goodell, H. H. Stevens, F. L. Rouse and J. A. Hinebaugh as sureties was accepted and ordered placed on file.

City Clerk H. C. McCreery presented his bond of $25,000, signed by Matthew Kennedy, G. S. Barnes, A. S. Welch, A. L. Lawton, W. S. Nichols and D. W. Robbins, which was also accepted and placed on file.

On the motion of Alderman Brown the rules governing the meetings of the council were suspended for the evening.

Under the head of the reports of committees, Alderman Jones, chairman of the police committee, stated that his attention had been called to the fact that the city was without a jail. He said that the committee had examined the basement of the city hall building and would recommend that three cells be placed in it for the use of city prisoners. He moved that the mayor appoint a committee to examine into the practicability and cost of the work. The mayor left the matter to the police committee.

Alderman Bent introduced an ordinance relative to the boxing of irrigation ditches, and moved its adoption.

The ordinance was in substance that for the purpose of preventing the waste of water, all irrigation canals and ditches in the city be boxed with planks without covers or bottoms, to be constructed on a grade corresponding to the grade of the respective streets and avenues. Whenever the city desires to construct these boxes they can order the work done at any regular or special meeting, the expense of such boxing or fluming to be paid by the owners of the property adjacent to or fronting upon the streets on which the same is to be built. When the council orders such work done, ten days notice shall be given by the street commissioner to the owners, agents or persons in charge of property, requiring them to do the work. Should they fail to comply with the notice the work can be done by the street commissioner, and the expense thereof be assessed upon and collected from the owners, agents or persons in charge of the property, in the same manner as taxes.

This ordinance was first adopted in sections, and afterward adopted as a whole.

The council then proceeded to the allowance of bills, and the following were ordered paid:

J L Marston, gas fitting	$ 60 00
J L Marston, tapping mains	23 05
G S Barnes, hardware	9 05
Work on streets and ditches	93 00
E O Bartlett, blacksmithing	3 65
E J Eaton, clerk's fees	8 00
H C McCreery, sundries	30 40
J W D Stovell, clerk's fees	27 50
Peter Downs, carting	2 00
Howbert Bros., stationery	2 00
Gas & Coke Co., gas	16 20
T B Filan, cartage	2 00
Ostrander & Thomas, lumber	31 31
Giles Crissey	51 75
Salary roll for April	602 73

BILLS REFERRED TO COMMITTEES.

E B Wells, insurance	$ 37 50
C H Mills, insurance	25 00
John Potter, collecting taxes	62 00
Wm Ross, carting	15 40
Jackson Hose Co., rent	18 00
John Pixley, justice's fees	13 20
J H B McFerran, rent	5 00

On motion of Alderman Brown the locating of the lamp posts ordered by the city was left to the committee on streets, alleys and ditches, with power to act, which was adopted.

The clerk was, on motion, instructed to ask for bids from the plumbers for city tapping, Mr. Marston's contract having expired.

On motion the mayor and city clerk were authorized to draw drafts on the county treasurer for city funds now in his hands.

Hook and Ladder company No. 1 requested the use of the city hall on the sixteenth for their social dance.

On motion of Alderman Ralstin, seconded by Alderman Parrish, the mayor was authorized to grant permits for use of the hall to the fire companies.

The council then adjourned.

School Election.

Yesterday afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 6, occurred the election of four trustees of our public schools, under the new law passed by the last legislature. There was comparatively little excitement over the election and the number of votes cast was very small, the total number being 267. Out of this about 50 votes were cast by the ladies, more of them coming out to vote than ever before.

There were two tickets in the field, one containing the names of A. Sagendorf, D. B. Fairley, T. G. Horn and D. W. Robbins, the other the names of F. L. Rouse, F. L. Martin, A. Sagendorf and Charles Walker.

The result of the vote was as follows:

FOR THREE YEARS.
A Sagendorf	260
D B Fairley	185
Charles Walker	83
FOR TWO YEARS.
T G Horn	172
F L Martin	95
FOR ONE YEAR.
D W Robbins	151
F L Rouse	87

Charles Walker received twenty-four votes for one year and one for two years. D. B. Fairley received one vote for two years and two for one year. F. L. Martin received two for one year, and one for three years, and T. G. Horn received one for three years. In accordance with the law none of these votes could be counted.

As it now stands our new board is composed of J. F. Humphrey, Dr. Corty, A. Sagendorf, D. B. Fairley, T. G. Horn and D. W. Robbins.

BEEBEE'S BULLET.

F. W. Beebee, Proprietor of the Beebee House at Manitou,

Commits Suicide by Shooting through the Brain.

Temporary Insanity Supposed to Be the Cause.

Not a little excitement was caused in this city and at Manitou on Sunday morning, by the announcement of the news that Mr. F. W. Beebee had either committed suicide or been murdered at Denver. The receipt of such news would naturally cause excitement, for Mr. Beebee, if not known personally, is known by reputation to the most of our people. United States Marshal Smith, who came down on the noon train from Denver, was the first to convey the news, but he had heard it just as he started away, and was not familiar with the particulars. During the morning a telegram to the same effect was received at Manitou by Mr. Bailey, of the Manitou house, which was corroborated later by several guests who arrived.

During the day it was the principal topic of conversation, both in this city and at Manitou. Several persons who had seen and talked with Mr. Beebee on Saturday, previous to his departure for Denver, were rather inclined to put considerable faith in the report that he had committed suicide, for they had noticed of late that he had talked and acted strangely. Not until the Denver papers reached this city yesterday morning, were the full particulars ascertained.

We take, from the Denver Republican, the following account of the suicide, together with the testimony of the two principal witnesses at the inquest, Mrs. Beebee and General Campbell: "Denver has added another suicide to its already long list, and, as usual, it happened on Sunday. The latest addition to the list occurred yesterday morning, at 515 Larimer street, the victim being Mr. F. Beebee, proprietor of the Beebee house, Manitou. Mr. Beebee is well known in Colorado, and his death is not only a surprise to his many friends, but the regret occasioned will be deep, heartfelt and genuine. Why he killed himself will never be known. Theories may prevail, but after all they are but theories, and though they may partially convince, will never wholly satisfy.

The particulars of the suicide are meager but reliable, and the most persistent inquiries have failed to elicit anything by which the range of inquisitive vision could be enlarged. Mr. Beebee was a partner of General Campbell, of Denver, a mining man and cattle raiser. They owned a ranch together and also a herd of cattle. Their relations had been intimate for a number of years and they were the best of friends. General Campbell wrote Mr. Beebee a letter, telling him the ranch required his attention and would like to see him before he went. In response to this letter, Mr. Beebee and his wife came up from Manitou Saturday night. General Campbell and his sister, Mrs. Johnston, called on Mr. and Mrs. Beebee, at their rooms, in the evening, and were pleasantly entertained by them until about 10 o'clock, when they left, General Campbell going to his rooms and Mrs. Johnston to the Alvord house, where she is stopping. The next morning Mr. Beebee shot and killed himself in General Campbell's rooms. The full particulars may be gleaned from the evidence.

The witnesses who testified could only testify to what they saw, and General Campbell, in reality, is the only man competent to speak upon the subject. He has told a straightforward story and it is believed. What is known not in evidence is very meagre. It was reported shortly after daylight that a man had killed himself in the Knights of Pythias block, and within a short time several owl reporters and sleepy policemen were at the scene of the tragedy. The coroner was not long in following, and the body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Mr. McGovern, where an inquest was held yesterday afternoon.

To understand the suicide it will be necessary to give an explanation. General Campbell has a suite of rooms in the Knights of Pythias block, 513 Larimer street. The first room is occupied as an office. In the office, besides other furniture, is a large desk, which figures prominently. The room adjoining the office is a bed room. In this room, and to the left, is a sideboard, on which lay the pistol. In the rear of the bed room is the bath room, water closet and wash stand pipes running to it, supplying hot water from a heater in the bed room. To the left of the entrance from the bed room to the bath room is the water closet. Near the seat is a box which is called a table by some of the witnesses. When the reporters and Dr. Rothwell arrived the man was found sitting on the water closet seat, his head bent slightly forward, and to the left. His feet were crossed, and he was sitting in an easy and natural position. The pistol was lying on the box or table several feet away. The hands of the deceased were hanging down by his side, the muscles relaxed. The blood was flowing from a wound in the center of his forehead. There were no signs of a struggle, and nothing to indicate foul play.

Mr. Beebee and Mr. Campbell were alone when the former killed himself. Mr. Campbell was so frustrated that he rang for a messenger, and without waiting for one locked his door, went down stairs, entered a hack and went after Judge Steck and the coroner. Before he returned a Mr. Whitten, second cook at the Alvord house, had gone up stairs, and with Mrs. Josie Doyle and several others broke open the door and gained access to the room. Just how anyone knew that anything unusual had occurred no one knows. Mrs. Doyle heard the pistol shot, and she probably gave the alarm, though she was so excited she did not know what she did.

The inquest was held yesterday afternoon, and its proceedings, as stated, will give any one the only idea of the self-destruction of Mr. Beebee that can be obtained. The widow of the deceased was the first witness placed upon the stand, and testified as follows:

My name is Beebee; the deceased was my husband; we lived at Manitou; we came to Denver last evening; partly on business; my husband wanted to see his partner, General Campbell; Mr. Beebee for a month past hasn't been sleeping much; was up at midnight; seemed perfectly sane then; all right then; wasn't awake when he left; considered Mr. Campbell one of the best friends he had; Mr. Beebee's complaint has been that he couldn't remember anything; his memory seemed to fail; been that way about a month; seemed perfectly exhausted; had no particular financial trouble; nothing to aggravate his troubles; Mr. Campbell and he were partners in a ranch; Mr. Campbell had written him to come up to go on the ranch; letter is down home; he was a native of Tonnawanda, New York; never made any threats; always expressed himself averse to anything of the kind; know no reason why he should have committed suicide; parties have noticed his absence of mind; there is no insanity in family; it may have been a temporary mental failing.

MR. CAMPBELL'S TESTIMONY.

Live at 513 Larimer; am a mining and stock man; knew deceased intimately; we crossed the plains together in 1860; business relations exist; we have 320 acres of land and some cattle on the Republican in which we are both interested; was with Mr. Beebee last night; my sister and myself called on Mr. and Mrs. Beebee last night about 8 o'clock at their rooms; neither was at home in their rooms; unlocked door and went in and sat down to wait for them; after a short time Mrs. Beebee came in alone; Mr. Beebee shortly afterwards; heard them coming up the stairway; he walked like a man tired or crippled; would set one foot down and pull the other up; sounded that way; when he came in I remarked about his mode of coming up and he said he was very tired; looked so to me and careworn; he and I together went to Roberts's hardware store, where he did some business; when we came out he asked where I was going and I told him to the postoffice; said he would go with me; he went; came back to Sixteenth and Lawrence, told him I was going to Joe Chaffee's room, and he said he was going home. Mr. Chaffee was not home, and I went to Sixteenth and Larimer and talked with friends, and then went to Mr. Beebee's house and got my sister; asked him to come over and see me before I left on business; went to bed at 12 o'clock, and went to sleep about 1 o'clock; my alarm clock was set for 5.30, and it went off at 5.19; I got up and dressed and shaved myself, and went in bathroom and washed; think it was at that time I heard Mr. Beebee coming up stairs; was in my underclothes, when he knocked at the door, and I let him in; said he had come over to see me off; Mr. Beebee had key to my room, and came and went as he pleased; I turned around to glass and went on with my dressing; Mr. Beebee walked back to bath room through bed room; was in water closet and bath room a long time; I heard a noise, which I am satisfied was the cocking and uncocking of a revolver; he stayed in there a long time.

When he came out I had my hand satchel in my hand, he stood at my desk and when I turned around I saw him with my self-cocking revolver in his hand, his hand over a pad of writing paper, the hammer was pulled back so far I thought it was going off; I said, "Beebee, what are you doing? He said, "nothing," and laid the revolver down; he asked me if I was going to take it to the ranch, and I said no; in a minute or two I picked up the revolver and took it back to a shelf where he had taken it from; he said nothing except in reply to a question I asked him if he thought I was going to have trouble at the ranch, when he said, "No;" I went into the front room to my hand bag; he was in the front room; he started and walked very quickly to the water closet; did not notice him stop to get the pistol, and immediately afterwards I heard report of pistol; I rushed to door of bed room and looked to where the pistol ought to be on the sideboard where it had been for years; the pistol was gone and Beebee wasn't there; I looked in bath room and didn't see Beebee there; went to door of bath room, looked to left where water closet was; he was sitting down on the seat, both feet crossed, hands lying down on the seat; looked at his head and saw blood pouring out from hole in his forehead; head inclined to forward and left; his position looked natural; have seen him sit that way hundreds of times; I screamed out to him, "What have you done, Beebee? do you know me?" no answer, of course; I rushed out into the hall and turned on a call for messenger, and then went back to see him again, to see if there was any hope for him, but I knew there could be nothing done; I think when I first saw him his eyes were open, staringly open, but it might have been my excitement; when I came back the second time and went to him I looked for the pistol he had killed himself with, to see if it were mine; it was lying in his left hand, the hand and muzzle resting on the seat, the muzzle slightly protruding over the seat; I took it out of his hand and placed it on the box or table; I turned around and went into the hall and found nobody stirring; started to find my friend, Judge Steck, and the coroner; took carriage and drove to Judge Steck's, got him up and we went and found the coroner; we all went to the room together; found the door broken open; know of no trouble except physical trouble, which affected his mental qualities; he used to be a man of remarkable memory, but has seemed to be failing for the last year; I know he was not financially embarrassed; the only reason I can assign for his killing himself is that he was mentally depressed from physical causes; he had kidney disease and was ruptured.

Just now there is a bitter fight on local grounds between Denver and Leadville. The Denver papers were the agressors and deserve all the blows that are given Denver owes much of her prosperity to Leadville and is mean not to acknowledge it

Fuller intelligence from New York states that the rise in Denver & Rio Grande stock last week was caused by the near completion of the line to Ogden when it will join the Central Pacific The general opinion prevails on Wall street that the Denver & Rio Grande will divide the through Pacific business with the Union Pacific

Fifty ladies voted yesterday at the school election It created no commotion, and was done decently and in order We think none of them sacrificed any dignity Still this is not a test for the practical effect of woman suffrage When there are lady officeseekers making a personal canvass for office, we shall see some of the beautiful results

The civil service rules have been published in full The two rules, in regard to elections and assessments, cover the famous order of President Hayes The most of the rules apply to the examination, and have little civil service reform in them President Hayes must be pleased to find his rule which was so sneered at when he issued it, adopted by a board selected by a stalwart president.

Secretary Folger went to see the president on Thursday and received assurances that he would be undisturbed in his office There have been rumors all the year that Mr. Folger would be expected to resign but this should set them at rest. After the sacrifice Mr. Folger made last fall, in running for governor of New York, he should be treated kindly His administration has been good and there is no complaint on the ground of inefficiency.

The Leadville Herald thinks that the free trade issue will not be made in this state It is probably correct The sentiment in this state is undoubtedly for protection This sentiment can be educated, however A free trade party could have a future if not a present. Colorado, like the rest of the country, is protection, because the other side is not heard At present there is no free trade party in the state The democracy used to be, but is now so afraid of losing votes that it is no willing to get off the fence A new party is needed to properly present this issue to the country

The New York Sun is authority for the statement that Senator Logan will be an anti administration senator this winter. Collector Spaulding, of Chicago, snubbed him and he demanded his removal President Arthur declined to accede The result is that Senator Logan is very angry and is making threats The secret of it all is that Lincoln supports Spaulding, and Logan is jealous of Lincoln's presidential prospects If the administration is popular in Illinois and Illinois furnishes a presidential candidate, Lincoln will undoubtedly be the man So the only chance Logan has is to make war on Lincoln

The election for school directors took place yesterday, and resulted in the election of Messrs Sagendorf, Fairley, Horn and Robbins The former had no opposition and received every vote cast He has been a very industrious member of the board, and his re-election without opposition was a very flattering endorsement The other gentlemen elected all had very large and emphatic majorities Mr. D. B Fairley had 102 majority, Dr Horn 77, and D W Robbins 67 Mr Fairley's majority was particularly large considering he ran against so popular a man as Charles Walker. The board will now consist of six members The vote cast was not very large, but there was sufficient attention paid to the election to call out all who felt an interest in the schools

The following history of the new president of the New York Central railroad, taken from a special dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial, will be read with interest. "Mr Rutter "was born in Lowell, Mass, in 1830 While "he was an infant his parents moved to Providence, R I, where he received his education Instead of taking a classical course, "he entered the Schofield Commercial college, "where he remained until the latter part of "1851 His parents removed to Elmira N "Y, in 1850 In 1851, disregarding the purpose of his father to make him a book keeper, Mr Rutter entered the freight office of "the Erie railway in Elmira as a clerk In "1853 he went to Williamsport, Pa as the "chief clerk of the Williamsport and Elmira "railroad, now one of the members of the "Pennsylvania railroad system In the latter "part of 1857 he took a clerkship in the Chicago offices of the Lake Shore road, soon after being appointed freight agent at Chicago "of the Chicago and Milwaukee railroad, now "a part of the Chicago and Northwestern system In 1860 Mr Rutter was recalled by "the Erie road to take charge of its station "at Elmira, and he remained there during the civil war, supervising the transfer "of troops and freight from the west, by way "of the Pennsylvania railroad, to the seat of "war In 1864 he was promoted to the freight "agency of the Erie road at Buffalo and in "1866 he became assistant general freight "agent of the road While in this position, "having special charge of the local business of "the road, he attracted the attention of W H "Vanderbilt, who induced his father to appoint him general freight agent of the New "York Central. In 1877 Mr Rutter was made "a director of the Central, and was given "supervision of the entire business of the "route as general traffic manager His promotion was due to his skill in managing the "New York Central during the great railroad "war of 1876 In 1880 the position of third "vice president was taken by Mr Rutter, and "he has remained in that office ever since The management of the Vanderbilt system "was practically in his hands under the direction of Mr Vanderbilt, and in 1881 Mr Rutter broke down from overwork and was compelled to take a partial vacation for nearly a "year"

"Yes" "Then gimme your hat and seizing the hat the boy wrote on it with chalk: 'Pass this man free,' and Mr Granger rode all the way to Washington on, or rather under, that unique pass

A Penny Theatre

Chambers Journal.

Passing through the folds of a remnant of old sailcloth I find myself in the corner of a large loft—partly covering a row of stables—stables unmistakably, from the occasional clamps of tired horses and the fragrant odor which proceeds therefrom—a little below the level of the footlights, and on the far side of the stage There are no reserved seats whatever From the raised platform to the outer walls are a number of rough planks ranged longitudinally, rising one above another as in an ordinary gallery In the topmost corner on the right hand is a small inclosure with a counter, devoted to the sale of 'oranges apples and ginger beer" The arrangements behind the curtain are primitive and simple: there are four tolerably well painted scenes slung upon rollers, comprising an exterior, an interior, a wood, and a street. The brick work at the back of the stage is colored to represent a landscape. Wings there are none, but the proscenium—3 feet wide on each side—being fixed parallel with the seats offers some slight protection to the actors in their entrances and exits The musical element was sparsely represented, one instrument only —a violin—constituted the entire orchestra Gas, of course, was unavailable, and candles were too insignificant, the authorities, therefore, resorted to the use of a fearful compound of grease and oil, the fumes of which were suffocating Five pans, in shape like huge garden saucers, were filled with this precious liquid and placed at intervals along the edge of the platform to do duty as "floats" Sometimes the business of the drama required a night effect, this was managed by means of a long slip of deal fastened to the stage by hinges, but lying flat thereon, until the appearance of the blood stained spectre or the pallid ghost called for darkness, when, by the aid of a cord attached to each end, it was raised, and the necessary result followed It should be mentioned that there are three 'houses' or performances nightly, each of which lasts about an hour The reader is supposed to be present at the first of these say at 7 o'clock By this time the audience has increased in number to at least 300, and the noise they make is deafening "Stop it, old catgut!" "Pull up the rag" "Now, then, look alive" etc Before the curtain rises, however, it may be as well to mention a little peculiarity attaching to the dramas enacted here To-night we are to have "The Highland Cateran" tomorrow perhaps, "The Outlaw" and the night following, "The Freebooter" Thus with variations—harping on the same old string—we at last arrive at 'Rob Roy'" so that in reality the 'change every evening" is a delusion and a snare

St. Paul Sees Rome.

Good Words

In 61 A D the lifelong wish of Paul's heart was to be gratified He was to 'see Rome," of which he claimed to be a citizen, and he was to be judged by that Cæsar to whom he had appealed. That Cæsar was Nero We may come upon Paul's vessel, the ominously Castor and Pollux, as it is passing in the early spring of the year 61, through the straits of Messina Leaving the bright cone of Stromboli on the left, Paul makes a direct run of 180 miles to Puteoli We know the view that burst upon the apostle as he entered the bay of Naples and made for the busy, thriving mart which is now the sleepy and struggling Puzzuoli The bay of Naples was the same, but Vesuvius was green and smokeless dotted with vineyards and crowded with villages and plantations Pompeii and Herculaneum stood far down the slope, thronged with Roman villas and pleasure gardens Capri lay off the main land, glittering as you approached it with the marble palaces of Tiberius and the baths and villas of his satellites The Apostle Paul, like Peter, like John, shortly afterward, must have passed along from Neapolis to Puteoli Built out into the blue waters on marble piers and arches, as we can still see them in the fading frescoes found at Pompeii, stood Baiæ and Cumæ, haunts of splendor, vice and luxury On the right, among the hills and hard upon the Appian Way which leads to Capua and over the large round stones on which you are still jolted when you visit the roaring Solfatarre, the apostle might have noted the signs of that volcanic disturbance which in a few years was destined to explode and overwhelm Pompeii and Herculaneum and later on, by another upheaval, the shining colonnades and villas of Baiæ Through the clear water on calm days you may still look down upon the shattered marble blocks at the bottom of the sea, which Saint Paul saw glowing erect like alabaster in the spring sun of the year 61 A D Did he, or Saint Peter, or Saint John visit their frescoed courts—lounge in their baths or porticos? Did they walk over to Pompeii or Herculaneum, or survey with admiration the bronzes and statues of Græco Roman art, specimens of which we have of late so laboriously recovered? No To those mystic seers there was something profoundly distasteful in the gayety and wealth of these fashionable watering places All this "world," they were persuaded, was on the point of passing away, with the lust thereof— Saint Peter prophesied, perhaps in view of the rumblings of the Solfatarre and other smoking signs of volcanic agency, that the "elements would shortly melt with fervent heat, and all these things would then be dissolved And as regards Baiæ, Cumæ Herculaneum, and Pompeii he was not far wrong

Various Kinds of Drunkards

Chambers Journal

Some men seem to become drunk suddenly giving no previous indication by thickness of articulation or unsteadiness of gait, this being commonly the case where mental excitement from other causes—as a heated discussion—prevails at the time The most dreadful and astounding cases are afforded by those unfortunate people who are never sober How they manage to survive so long as they do is a mystery There are men who have been perpetually under the influence of liquor for twenty or thirty years Of course, the brain must have become permanently injured, so that we may infer that the drink these persons now take has little or no real effect on them and that their state would be just the same without it Others, again are systematic and punctual drunkards of regular habits, men who take their quantum and are put to bed unconscious every night, yet are capable of attending to their daily business in the most extraordinary manner These, as a rule, never exceed a given amount by so much as a glass, and do not suffer so much as intermittent drunkards—at any rate, not so soon, for the inevitable consequence is only a little longer deferred The writer knew an old doctor in Jamaica who used to aver that the climate was the finest in the world "Yellow fever, sir?" he would exclaim "not a bit of it! A vulgar chimera! A malicious libel on us The fact is, it's the vicious irregular drinking habits of the people here that kills 'em Look at me! I drink a bottle of brandy every night, and have done so for thirty years I get tipsy seven times a week, in an orderly and decent manner, and I've never had yellow fever nor a day's illness" And to all appearances he was a fine, healthy man of 65 or 70 years, with a beard as white as snow Yet he was carried off suddenly by a trifling indisposition incidental to the climate, and it was found on examination of his papers after death that his age was only 52

It does not by any means follow, either, that because a man is never intoxicated he may not be drinking too much Men employed in the great breweries in London, especially the draymen, consume an enormous quantity of beer The daily allowance which their employers give them is a very large one, but they rarely confine themselves to that, and the draymen in addition, get much gratuitously from the customers to whom they are always delivering the casks, so that ten or fourteen quarts is no exceptional consumption for one man, yet they are not drunkards, in the ordinary sense of the term The very nature of their work necessitates the employment of none but steady men, strength being also a sine qua non But if one of these men should break a limb, or get confined to his bed from any other accident, he is almost sure to get delirium tremens, and a scalp wound frequently kills him Brewers' men are notorious in hospitals as being the worst cases for operation, being prone to exhibit all the most dangerous complications which fetter the success of surgical treatment

THE VERDICT

An inquisition holden at Denver in Arapahoe county on the 6th day of May, A D 1883, before Charles K McHatton, coroner of said county, upon the dead body of Lafayette W Beebee lying there dead by the jurors whose names are hereto subscribed, the said jurors, upon their oaths, do say that the deceased came to his death from a pistol wound inflicted by his own hand

OBITUARY

Mr Beebee was one of the best known residents of Colorado. He came originally from New York City, and crossed the plains in 1858 coming with the advance guard of the Pike's Peak gold hunters. Since the time he first entered the state he has been one of her most leading citizens. His wife has been his constant companion, being closely identified with him in all his business interests. The deceased was 51 years of age but looked much younger. He was one of the founders of Idaho Springs, and kept the first hotel at that place. About six years ago he took the Beebee house at Manitou, running it in connection with his hotel at Idaho Springs. Three years ago he sold out his Idaho Springs interest and devoted himself exclusively to the house at Manitou. The Beebee house is the largest and handsomest hotel at Manitou. He was also the owner of much other property in and around the town, and to his energies Manitou is much obligated for its present standing as one of the most popular summer resorts in the country. He was a popular landlord, and known to thousands of prominent eastern people who have stopped at his hotel during their stay at Manitou

For two or three years past his friends have noticed that he was gradually losing his mind. His memory was failing him. Once possessed of a very retentive memory, his faculties failed to such an extent that it was with difficulty he could remember the most important acts of his business life. His failing was only noticeable to his intimate friends. He retained full charge of his business but his wife and friends kept a closer watch over his proceedings

The cause of his mental disorder was undoubtedly general decay hastened by family trouble. He and his wife loved dearly to [illegible] other. The trouble was with relatives in New York and Virginia, a large number of whom have in recent months met sudden and violent deaths. About eighteen months ago his sister in law who lived in Virginia was murdered by a negro woman who placed poison in her food. That so worked upon her husband's mind that within a few weeks he suicided, shooting himself in the center of the forehead. Other relatives died in New York state, and the news seemed to have a very depressing effect upon Beebee, who pondered and continually talked of the terrible happenings to his family. Not long ago a former clerk of Beebee's Idaho Springs hotel committed suicide in Chicago, he also shooting himself in the center of the forehead. The night before the tragedy Beebee began talking to his wife, after they had gone to bed, about his clerk's suicide, saying he couldn't divine a reason why a man should be so foolish as to take his own life. Beebee was making preparations to open his Manitou hotel about the first of June and told his wife that if he only had his young clerk with him he would be greatly pleased —[Denver Republican

WITHOUT SIN AND WITHOUT GUILE

Abstract of a Communion Sermon at the Methodist Church.

The Rev. C W Blodgett, some five years ago pastor of the Methodist church in this place, preached in Mr Arundel's place last Sunday morning. He took as his text the 22d verse of the 2d chapter of I Peter

Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth

The speaker said that this is a day of eulogy on men and their deeds. A while ago Blaine thrilled congress with his eulogy on Garfield. De Witt Talmage has just delivered an eloquent eulogy on the foremost of Methodist pulpit orators, who recently died in Baltimore. Colfax eulogized Lincoln. Yet among all the Garfields and Wesleys and Pauls and Lincolns there is no one over whom it can be said 'He did no sin

Guile means deceit. Nathaniel, the Israelite in whom was no guile, was not a man who never did any sin. Christ merely held him up as a man whose character was transparent.

I stand to-day over an empty grave and say, 'Here is a man who did no sin, neither was any guile found in him," and I worship him. I would worship any man who has such a record as the Nazarene. Next to God the grandest thing is a man. Perhaps if we belonged to another order of being and only knew of man, we would worship him. But there has been only one man without guile. There is to day a certain semi scepticism in the land, something with which our fathers did not have to contend. It is cultured and honors Christ, but along with Christ it eulogizes Zoroaster and Buddha and Socrates. Felix Adler on Easter day spoke of the imperfections of Christ as a man. He said that Christ took advantage of society and He turned away a heathen woman who appealed to Him, that He did many things which might be suitable to God but were not becoming in man. So thought Judas, so thought Pilate. And this is no new accusation. Christ was accused of all sorts of sin. Yet to day people orthodox and heterodox, Christians and Jews (except Felix Adler and a few like him), and Mohammedans, write an eulogy on Christ. Could His life be written as some would have written it, we would execrate Him. He was accused of witchcraft, sabbath breaking, then looked on as a greater sin than now, when the morning is given to worship and the afternoon to buggy riding—deceit, hypocrisy, treason. Yet after nineteen centuries with all the changes that have taken place, everywhere and by everybody, are these words written over His empty tomb: He did no sin

Sinlessness in other cases means absence of sorrow. How much sin comes from suffering, from aching of the brain. Oh! we think, if we could only lift these burdens, if we could only escape sorrow and suffering, we might lead sinless lives. Yet Christ took the very course we shun. He was a sorrowing man. And as we grow older we are better able to pronounce an eulogy on Him than in early life.

In the beginning of His ministry He was tempted, tempted to minister to Himself. But he was to lead a life of self abnegation, and He came out of temptation with a beam in His eye and a gleam in His character. He was subject to every temptation that you and I are subject to. He was surrounded by sinful men. We think that if we were in a community where there was no sin, where the divine fire was burning, we would lead a sinless life. Yet Christ even courted the society of sinful men. Government was corrupt, the church was corrupt and corruption is contagious. Human passions had fuller play, perhaps, than ever before or since, but Christ shines by the sinlessness of His life

He was in poverty. Physical advantages do away with crime. Why do we hear so much of dynamite? Because there is a great cry of the masses in their woe, of the Irish against the English, of the English among their own peasants, of the people of Italy. There are in these mountains men toiling to retrieve their fortunes, murmuring in their hearts, men who in the east belonged to various branches of the church, going to destruction because God has allowed their fortunes to be reversed. Yet place the most suffering man beside Christ. He had not where to lay His head. He had a body subject to infirmity. He hungered, suffered pain and mental anguish

But what of His teaching? That too was without guile or deceit. Other teachers have propagated their religions by the sword. His followers were to experience the sword and kingdom. I see Paul—old, bent perhaps with his labors, and I hear him say "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." So Jesus Christ held out before His disciples no deceit. He did not promise more than He intended to perform. He will give all these things, but in this life nothing. O matchlessness of character. As after centuries we understand His character better than Peter or Paul, better even than John, we say, 'We find no fault in Him, in His words, in His death, for He died for us'

In the east a human fiend has been trying to present on the boards the Passion Play. That great tragedy might perhaps be made more attractive than any in Shakespeare. Yet why did the secular newspapers, often edited by men who do not care for the church, oppose the scheme? If Christ reached only the plane of Zoroaster and Buddha, why did that cry of horror arise? Why did the legislature of New York pass a law against the play? He was God—There are evidences beyond the synoptic gospels and the declaration of God that in the beginning was the Word

In Westminster abbey lie kings and queens whose names only are known to the world. Men who have moved the world by their deeds are forgotten. Near Jerusalem is the grave of a man who was not known to fame till he began to preach. To-day his name is known all over the world. He has never gone into a life that he has not sweetened, never into a life that he has not ennobled

Mr Blodgett told a story of a woman, a woman who was a sinner, who, near her death, had sent for him to talk of Christ, and said he had seen many scenes like that

The fact that Christ did no sin, that he was above man, that he was God, is shown in the perpetuity of the institution he founded, the church. Christianity is able to abide by the law of the survival of the fittest. Cultured paganism has gone long ago. The chime of church bells is heard around the globe. Christ's kingdom has no end. What a full and sufficient Savior he is

G A R Notes

There were fourteen recruits mustered into Abram Lincoln Post No 4, Denver, last Friday night

Phil Kearney Post, Abraham Lincoln Post and Sons of Veterans, Denver, will move into their new quarters on Curtis street this week

Nearly all the officers of Post No 2[illegible], of this city, and some of the comrades have secured uniforms for the services on memorial day

Last December when Post No 22, G A R, was organized in this city, there was supposed to be about 75 veteran soldiers of the late war in El Paso county. It is now thought beyond a doubt that there are twice that number, four fifths of whom reside in this city

Every comrade of Post No 22, G A R is requested to be at the new post room promptly at 7 30 o'clock to-night, as very important business will be brought before the meeting. The election of officer of the guard and judge advocate will take place. Visiting comrades are cordially invited to be present.

Mexican Matters

MEXICO May 7,—The Official Journal observes that General Diaz was received with the warmest tokens of regard by all classes

Colonie Francaise asks: "When will European powers and particularly France, realize what a field Mexico offers for all kinds of enterprise? Will they allow Americans to monopolize this field and become sole masters of the great enterprises in Mexico?" It urges the French government to negotiate a commercial treaty. In view of German and American treaties and the probability that England will promptly strive to renew diplomatic relations, it advocates a treaty which would place France on the same footing as the most favored nation

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is a [illegible] combination of some of the most powerful restorative agents in the [illegible] kingdom. It restores gray hair to its original color. It makes the scalp white and clean. It cures dandruff and humors, and falling out of the hair. It furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a hair dressing. It is the most economical preparation ever offered to the public as its effects remain a long time, making only an occasional application necessary. It is recommended and used by eminent medical men and officially endorsed by the State Assayer of Massachusetts. The popularity of Hall's Hair Renewer has increased with the test of many years both in this country and in foreign lands, and it is now known and used in all the civilized countries of the world

Notice.

Whereas school district No 11, El Paso county, Colo, at its last enumeration, contained a school population of one thousand and fifty-six, it becomes necessary to increase the board of directors to six members. Therefore at the election of said district to be held May 7th, 1883, there must be four (4) members elected according to the following portion of section 42, regulating the change from a second to a first class district, viz

"Whenever the annual census of any district shows that the school population of the district numbers one thousand (1,000) or more, at the next annual election thereafter the board of directors of said district shall be increased to six members—four weeks previous notice thereof being given in some newspaper published in the district by electing two members for three years, one member for two years, and one member for one year, and the persons so elected together with the directors whose official terms have not expired, shall constitute the new board, which board shall enter upon the duties prescribed by law for boards of directors of districts of the first class

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

Nothing Short of Unmistakable Benefits

Conferred upon tens of thousands of sufferers could originate and maintain the reputation which AYER'S SARSAPARILLA enjoys. It is a compound of the best vegetable alteratives, with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, all powerful, blood making, blood-cleansing and life-sustaining—and is the most effectual of all remedies for scrofulous, mercurial, or blood disorders. Uniformly successful and certain, it produces rapid and complete cures of Scrofula, Sores, Boils, Humors, Pimples, Eruptions, Skin Diseases and all disorders arising from impurity of the blood. By its invigorating effects it always relieves and often cures Liver Complaints, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, and is a potent renewer of waning vitality. For purifying the blood it has no equal. It tones up the system, restores and preserves the health and imparts vigor and energy. For forty years it has been in extensive use and is to-day the most available medicine for the suffering sick.

Notice.

Mr. Adney Hemenway has bought the subscription list of the DAILY GAZETTE from Mr. H. Iles and is now the city circulator. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions for the WEEKLY GAZETTE and collect accounts.

Dr. R. H. Lamborn was in the city for a few hours on Sunday.

The El Paso County Sunday School convention meets in this city to-day.

Messrs. Everleth & Taylor, the grocerymen, are having the front of their store painted bright red.

Col. J. H. Bacon and wife left for Denver on the Thunderbolt yesterday morning, where they expect to remain a week or two.

Sheriff Dana has received an invitation to attend the hanging of Packer, the man-eater, at Lake City Colo., on the 19th of this month.

Dr. Buckingham, president of the board of trustees of the Deaf Mute Institute, came down from Denver on the morning express yesterday.

Mr. Thomas Tribe left for England last night, expecting to remain absent several weeks. His wife, who is now in Europe, will return with him.

J. M. Culver, manager of the Denver branch of the Rounds Type and Press company, was in this city and Manitou on Sunday and Monday, the guest of W. H. Montgomery, of the GAZETTE force.

Quite a number of the Colorado Springs people were invited to dine at the Manitou house on Sunday. Those who were fortunate enough to accept returned fully satisfied that "Billy" Bailey was the prince of providers.

Robson & Crane's company passed through this city Sunday, on their way to Leadville, where they play three nights. Saturday night these celebrated comedians will appear in this city. Seats will be on sale Thursday morning, and it is expected there will be a big rush.

The regular semi-monthly social will occur at the rooms of the Grace Church association, corner of Weber street and Platte avenue, to-night. An interesting programme has been arranged for the occasion.

The fourth and last section of the Raymond excursion left Manitou yesterday morning for Durango, Silverton, and other places of interest on the line of the Denver & Rio Grande. The party has experienced extremely pleasant weather during their sojourn in Colorado, and from all reports have heartily enjoyed the visit. Cook's New York party are expected at the Manitou house the latter part of the week.

The 75-yard race between Nusbaum, of Pueblo, and Skinner, of this city, came off at Pueblo Sunday afternoon, and was won by Skinner by about one yard. The race was witnessed by a large number of Skinner's friends from this city and Pueblo, who went with the intention of backing him to the full extent of their pockets. But few bets on the race could be procured, however, and it was very evident that Nusbaum's backers had but little faith in his defeating Skinner. Nusbaum had decidedly the advantage of the start in the race, but Skinner soon passed him and won the race without the least effort.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Colorado Springs Hotel company was held at Court House hall yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Hon. T. C. Parrish in the chair and G. H. Buckman acting as secretary. Twelve hundred and twenty-eight shares out of a total of sixteen hundred and fifty were represented. The reports of the president and secretary of the board of directors were made and accepted. The old board of directors, consisting of General W. J. Palmer, Dr. S. E. Solly, Dr. W. A. Bell, A. Sagendorf, Hon. T. C. Parrish, H. LeB. Wills and J. H. Barlow, was re-elected. After passing a resolution approving the acts of the board of directors for the past year the meeting adjourned.

Cards have been received in this city conveying news of the marriage of James B. Crall and Miss Hattie H. Tomy at Fairfield, Iowa, on Thursday, May 3d, at 8 o'clock p. m. Miss Tomy is well known in Colorado Springs, having for some time served as a teacher in our public school. The bride and groom have taken up their residence at Fairfield.

On Sunday afternoon a telegram was received by Sheriff Dana from Wigwam station, on the Denver & New Orleans road, stating that a man named Charles Osborn was violently insane at the ranch of S. A. Jackson. Sheriff Dana and Under Sheriff Jackson took the first train for Wigwam, and upon arriving there found Osborn at the depot in the custody of five or six men. By this time he had become more rational, and his friends had concluded to take him to Pueblo and place him under the charge of a physician. He has considerable property, and if possible his friends will avoid sending him to the asylum. But should he again become violent he will be brought to this county and adjudged insane. He has acted very queerly of late, but showed no signs of insanity until Sunday, when he was detected in the act of shooting his cows and horses with a revolver. Mr. Jackson tried to prevent him from doing so, whereupon he became very violent, and it was with difficulty that he could be placed under control.

Presentation.

Lieutenant Ed. Frost, one of the best officers that has ever been elected to Co. A, was presented with a handsome sabre last evening at the company's armory.

Captain Roby, in a neat speech, made the presentation, stating that he was pleased to see so many members of the company present, and after requesting Lieutenant Frost to step to the front and center of the company, said:

Lieut. Frost:

On behalf of the officers and members of Company A, I present you this sabre, as a token of their regard and esteem for you, both as a soldier and gentleman. Take this sabre, and in years to come may it remind you of the many pleasant evenings spent in the old armory of Company A.

Lieutenant Frost, though entirely taken by surprise, responded in a neat speech, after which the company adjourned to their parlor where refreshments were in waiting.

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.
